
Designed with Supercomputers

- Last Updated ()

Bloomberg Businessweek.com highlights this week how large companies use the world's fastest supercomputers to design and simulate how their products will work in real life. From aircraft to golf clubs, companies increasingly rely on supercomputers to create their products.

(+)